Rules of the Road Give Precautions For Safe Driving

WEATHER REPORT: Spring was short but there was enough of it to bring out the "thith" flowers. Know what the "thith" flowers are? They're yellow ones, the forthithia and the narthithuth. Pardon me, but thum one just thlung a thquath in thith direction.

But in spite of the cold spell warm weather will soon be with us and the old urge to get out on the highways for Sunday drives to places of interest around here will mount daily as the weather gets better.

We want you to get there and back safely and one way for this to happen is for you to know the rules of the road. "Rules of the Road," that's the title of a state of Illinois booklet issued by Charles F. Carpenter, secretary of state, and it tells you nearly everything you need to know about using our roads.

All roadway users are subject to traffic laws, including the person who is pushing a cart and riding a motor scooter.

And except where there are no sidewalks, pedestrians are forbidden by Illinois law to use the roadway. Did you know that children on roller skates, coasters, and toy vehicles of all kinds are required by law to use the sidewalk except for crossing the street in a crosswalk?

Did you know that certain-shaped highway signs always are for the same thing: An octagon-shaped sign always means stop. One with a diamond shape always carries a warning, like "slow." A round sign, painted yellow, means "caution," and a square one, painted white, gives you information, like "no passing zone." Rectangular-shaped signs are regulatory signs, giving instructions, like "Keep to right except when passing."

One of the big dangers to the fellow on the highway who is trying to do a safe job of driving is the driver who is following too closely behind him.

"Rules of the Road" has this to say on that point:

"You must maintain sufficient distance between your vehicle and the vehicle ahead of you so that you can stop in case of any emergency without colliding.

"Allow at least one car length for every ten miles per hour of speed. At 30 miles per hour keep at least three car lengths between you and the other vehicle ahead; at 40 miles per hour, four car lengths, etc.

"Keep as far behind as the pressure of traffic will allow. If you must follow closely take extra precaution in watching for trouble ahead.

"Illinois law requires that motor vehicles being driven in a motorcade or caravan, outside a business district—with the exception of funeral processions—must allow a sufficient distance between each vehicle in the motorcade or caravan so that vehicles overtaking them can pass with reasonable safety, and have sufficient room for a return to the right-hand lane if encountering traffic makes such a movement necessary."

Mrs. Ronald Prehm, 33, Sister of Mrs. Charles Ford Jr., Burns to Death

Accident Occurs At Her Home in Brazil, Indiana

Mrs. Ronald Prehm, 33, sister of Mrs. Charles B. Ford Jr. of Harrisburg and daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Joe Wisheart of Shawneetown, was burned to death yesterday at her home in Brazil, Ind. Mr. and Mrs. Prehm formerly lived in Harrisburg.

Mr. and Mrs. Wisheart and Mrs. Ford left immediately for Brazil, where Mr. Prehm is employed as sales manager for the Arketek Ceramics company owned by John Stelle, uncle of the dead woman.

Reports from Brazil this morning were that Mrs. Prehm, who was Miss Betty Jo Wisheart before her marriage, burned to death in the basement of her home at 1116 North Walnut street, between 11 a. m. and noon.

Finds Charred Body
She was found at noon by her husband, who was met at the house by their son, Stephen, 7, who told him that his mother was not at home.

Prehm started looking and found the charred body of his wife on the basement floor in front of the furnace.

Although cause of her death was not positively determined, it was believed that fumes had formed inside the furnace and had ignited and burst out of the furnace door, igniting her clothing, when she opened the door. It also was believed the accident occurred around 11:40 a. m.

Only evidence of clothing was one slipper, she was so badly burned.

Mrs. Prehm was active in PTA work and was well-liked in Brazil, sources there said today. She was an alumna of the University of Illinois and a member of Alpha Omicron Pi national social sorority. She was a member of the First Presbyterian church at Brazil.

Funeral Tomorrow

Besides her husband and parents she leaves three children, Danny, 9, Stephen, 7, and a baby daughter, Holly, 18 months; and her sister, Connie, who is Mrs. Charles B. Ford Jr. The baby, Holly, was at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Wisheart because Mrs. Prehm had not been feeling well and she and her husband were planning to start on a vacation trip to Florida this morning.

The body was moved to the Miller and Sons funeral home in Brazil. The funeral service will be held there at 2 p. m. tomorrow, after which the body will be cremated and returned to Shawneetown. There it is planned that services will be held Sunday at 2 p. m. at the Presbyterian church. The Wright funeral home will be in charge.

1,061 X-rays Taken by State Mobile Unit Here

The State mobile x-ray unit, which has been in Harrisburg Tuesday, Wednesday and Thursday and will remain here for today and tomorrow, has taken a total of 1,061 x-rays during the first three days.

X-rays taken Tuesday totaled 298 and the same amount was taken on Wednesday. Thursday, when the hours were extended for the benefit of late shoppers, 465 x-rays were taken, and Mr. and Mrs. Lester Puckett, who are in charge of taking x-rays have worked hard during their stay here.

Teachers from the city and high schools and from rural areas have been prompt in having x-rays made and all other teachers are urged to have them made while the unit is here. Also all who handle food for public consumption are asked to have x-rays made. The state mobile unit probably will not be back next year and now is the time for everyone to have x-rays made, especially so as there is an increase in lung cancer.

The unit will be at Galatia for one day Tuesday, at Eldorado March 10-13, and at Carier Mills on March 16 and 17.

Briggle Refuses To Reduce Brean Greer Sentence

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Ex-slot machine operator Brean Greer, 55, Du Quoin, must begin a three-year prison term March 22 for income tax evasion.

Greer's request for a reduction of the term and a $10,000 fine was turned down Thursday by Federal Judge Charles G. Briggle, who said he had found "nothing" that "calls for any change" in his Jan. 5 sentence order.

Greer pleaded guilty to evading $62,500 in taxes for 1946, and the government dropped similar charges for 1945 and 1947. In ordering the sentence, Briggle criticized Greer's widespread slot machine activities in southern Illinois.

He said Thursday that Greer's petition, accompanied by statements on his behalf by 30 persons, "established without doubt that Greer has many good qualities."

"Maybe the good outweigh the bad," Briggle said, "but I don't think it would be the proper attitude for the court to brush aside his past activities."

Argument by Attorney
Atty. W. J. Hill, Benton, Thursday argued that the sentence should be reduced because Greer should have been sentenced only on tax evasion. He said Greer's slot machine business should not have been considered.

He cited an opinion by the judge who sentenced Missouri political boss Thomas J. Pendergast in 1939 on a tax evasion charge.

This judge, Hill said, stated Pendergast's political "bossism" and "corruption" under his rule had no bearing on his sentence for tax evasion.

Hill listed other sentences which were smaller than Greer's, although the evasion was larger or the defendants also were involved in gambling or other illegal activities.

He said a man "aware of his guilt" who "candidly admits it by a guilty plea" deserved more consideration than one who demanded a lengthy and expensive trial.

Briggle Doesn't Agree
Briggle, however, said although it was improper for him to criticize another judge, he didn't agree with some of the arguments made by the judge who sentenced Pendergast.

He said this argument would mean a judge sentencing a bank robber would have to "close his eyes" to the fact the robber had robbed many other banks.

"If I were to follow that argument logically, I would have to say that the judge who sentenced Capone (on a tax charge) just went haywire," Briggle said.

Hill asked that Greer's $5,000 bond be applied to the fine when Greer surrenders March 22. He said Greer has paid $25,000 of what he owes to the director of internal revenue.

Infant Faces Trouble When He Grows Up

DETROIT (AP)—A 6-month-old boy played happily today unaware of the trouble he's probably in for when he grows up.

Thousands of arrest warrants will be issued with his name. Bank clerks will cock an eyebrow when he tries to cash a check. And if he marries, he and his wife may have trouble with the room clerk on their honeymoon.

Molotov Claims Arming Germany Will Lead to War

Criticizes U. S. Critics of Dulles For Action on China

MOSCOW (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Vyacheslav M. Molotov warned the West today that re-arming Germany eventually would lead to World War III.

In his first statement since the Berlin conference, Molotov charged that the United States, Great Britain and France had trampled on international agreements by trying to restore German militarism.

Molotov said the West's unwillingness to junk its West German proposals had caused the Big Four foreign ministers to fail to reach an agreement on German reunification and Austrian independence.

Molotov said, however, that the Berlin conference showed that possibilities still exist for lessening of international tension.

The Big Four's agreement to meet with Chinese Foreign Minister Chou En-Lai at Geneva on April 26 was "of definite international significance," Molotov said.

Molotov lashed out at U. S. senators who had criticized Secretary of State John Foster Dulles for "excessive tractability with regard to China."

He said Dulles' critics would like for China to remain "in its old status of a semi-colonial nation," but those days are gone forever. Molotov said the Peiping government had earned a position as a major world power and had thrived despite trade restrictions imposed by the United States, Great Britain and France.

The foreign minister's 10,000-word statement was believed to be one of the longest pronouncements of Soviet policy ever issued. Praying devoted 2 1/2 pages to the statement and Moscow radio spent five hours broadcasting it to the world.

Molotov said the European Defense Community posed the question of war or peace.

Compared to Anti-Comintern Pact
"Where does the present line of the United States, Britain and France on the German question lead?" he asked.

He said the path means to embark on preparation for another war in Europe which will lead to World War III, Molotov said.

Molotov compared the North Atlantic Treaty Organization pact with the ill-fated anti-Comintern pact signed in 1937 by Nazi Germany, Italy and Japan.

"There are no grounds for doubting that the fate of the North Atlantic Pact will be no better than the fate of the anti-Comintern pact," Molotov said.

Molotov's message contained numerous references to the United States' attempt to form a foreign policy from "positions of strength," and he said that this policy had failed in Germany, Korea and Indochina.

Terry Druggan, First Millionaire Bootlegger, Dies Almost Penniless

CHICAGO (AP)—Terry Druggan, who with the late Frankie Lake was the first prohibition millionaire bootlegger, died forgotten and almost penniless, it was learned today.

The once dapper little gangster died Thursday at the age of 52 in St. Anne's Hospital of a chronic heart ailment, stomach ulcers and asthma. A funeral home released the news of his death today.

When Chicago went dry in 1919, it stayed that way only a very, very short time. Druggan and his neighborhood chum, Lake, began to furnish a trickle of illegal beer that turned into a near flood.

Their first successes were in the field of improving near beer, which, as Chicagoans said, was named by a bad judge of distance.

'Needing' Near Beer

Druggan and Lake began injecting raw alcohol into the near beer, or "needing it." Their profits were so great that they soon owned a whole string of breweries.

Near beer was legal. But to make near beer it was necessary to first brew the real stuff and then cut it back. The beer twins preferred to sneak the real article out of their breweries.

American Plane Is Missing In French Alps

Rescuers Search For Air Force C47 With 20 Aboard

MARSEILLE, France (AP)—Ski patrols and planes of three nations searched today for an American 047 Air Force transport plane, missing for more than 24 hours and feared crashed with 20 persons aboard in the jagged peaks of the French Alps.

Rescue operations were being pressed against time as heavy new snows sifted down over the region of towering Mont Blanc where it was feared the plane may be down.

Authorities were afraid snow might bury the plane or its wreckage and lessen any chance for survival of the 16 passengers and four crewmen.

Officials of the 12th U. S. Air Force in Germany concentrated their search in the Alpine crags near Mont Blanc, some 150 miles north of Nice.

Ships Watch for Wreckage
Villagers at Chamonix, at the foot of the mighty peak, reported hearing airplane engines Thursday night, shortly before a severe storm broke over the area. Other reports were received that a plane had crashed into the mountains "north of Nice."

U. S. Air Force search and rescue planes and French and Italian aircraft skimmed over the Alps. Ski patrols made a ground search in the most likely areas.

On the off chance that the plane might have plunged into the Mediterranean Sea somewhere between Rome and Nice, ships were alerted to watch for wreckage.

The missing plane left Rome Thursday at 11:27 a. m. on a flight to Bitburg, Germany. It last reported its position at 12:42 p. m. over the French Mediterranean island of Corsica.

The plane's fuel supply would have kept it in the air only until 7:30 p. m., and there appeared to be no doubt that it had crashed.

Maj. John H. Mork of Minneapolis, a 38-year-old air-sea rescue expert, is directing the search.

A. D. Abney, 76, Retired Mail Carrier, Dies

Aud D. Abney, 76, well-known retired mail carrier living at 15 North McKinley, died today at 7 a. m. at his home following a long illness.

Mr. Abney, who worked with the post office for 23 years, had been bedfast for the past four months and in failing health for several years.

He was born in Brushy township June 3, 1877, to Felix and Eliza Edwards Abney, and married Maud Casper in St. Louis, Mo., January 1, 1919. He had been a resident of Harrisburg for 35 years.

The funeral will be Sunday at 2 p. m. in the chapel of the Gaskins funeral home. Rev. W. L. Cummins will officiate, and burial will be in Sunset Lawn cemetery with Masonic rites.

He is survived by his wife, Maud; a sister, Mrs. Gertrude Baker, Springfield; three brothers, E. A. Abney, Kankakee, William Abney, Paducah, Ky., Sam Abney of Ohio, and several nieces and nephews.

Mr. Abney was a member of the First Methodist church in Harrisburg, a Shriner and a 32nd degree Mason.

Housewives Back from Brazil Tell Senators Coffee Will Go Higher

By United Press
A group of housewives gave senators the cheerless news today that coffee prices probably will go higher before they settle down.

They added in testimony before a Senate Banking subcommittee that "natural causes," as far as they can see, are to blame. The chief villain, they said, was a hard frost that destroyed much of Brazil's 1953-54 coffee crop.

The housewives, all members of the General Federation of Women's Clubs, visited Brazil recently as guests of the Brazilian Coffee Institute. They are Mrs. Zia Woodford Schroeder of Grosse Pointe, Mich.; Mrs. Carl E. Swanbeck of Huron, Ohio, and Mrs. Gilbert F. Loeb of Waterville, Maine.

They told the subcommittee, which is investigating the high cost of coffee, that there is a "grave deficiency in world supply" of the bean. According to their report, world coffee consumption has been going up steadily and coffee production has not kept pace.

Those facts, plus the frost, and not "sinister machinations" by anybody, are the culprits, the women said.

Farm: Agriculture Department Solicitor Karl Loos said that under the administration's proposed farm program President Eisenhower could give away 2 1/2 billion dollars' worth of surplus farm products if he wanted to. Loos testified before the Senate Agriculture Committee on proposed methods to set aside surpluses in order to remove their effect on market prices. Under questioning, Loos said the program would permit the President to give away 2 1/2 billion dollars' worth "without limitation." Sen. Allen J. Ellender (D-La.) remarked, "That is a nifty sum." Nobody asked what amount the administration might actually decide to dispose of.

McCarthy's investigating subcommittee whether he was a Communist—although a previous witness testified he had been. WASHINGTON (AP)—J. Ernest Wilkins, second Negro in history to be appointed to the official family of an American President, rose from the son of a poor Baptist preacher to assistant labor secretary.

Wilkins' success story began 60 years ago in Farmington, Mo. He takes over his post in the Eisenhower administration as a successful Chicago lawyer, a Republican and a name in "Who's Who."

The only other Negro to hold a sub-cabinet job in the government was William H. Lewis who served as an assistant attorney general from 1911 to 1913 under President William Howard Taft.

A spokesman for the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People said Wilkins' appointment marks "an important step forward" in the recognition of "merit and ability" regardless of race.

President Eisenhower appointed Wilkins Thursday on the recommendation of Labor Secretary James P. Mitchell, who praised his new aide for "ability, imagination and resourcefulness in handling difficult problems."

The polished, well-dressed appointee ran into his first problem Thursday. At a news conference he declined to express any views on a proposal now before the Senate for a compulsory federal fair employment practices commission.

20 Injured in Accidental Blast in Korea

Helicopters Fly Casualties to Medical Companies

SEOUL (AP)—The accidental explosion of an 82-mm. mortar shell during a training demonstration killed at least six U. S. Marines and injured 20 near here on Thursday, it was announced today.

Several of the wounded men are on the critical list.

The explosive-loaded projectile exploded in a quonset hut where a Marine instructor was demonstrating ways of using U. S. artillery fuses with enemy ammunition. Unconfirmed reports said the instructor, who was killed, accidentally dropped the shell.

The explosion blew out the doors and windows of the hut and tore gaping holes in its walls.

Names Withheld

The 1st Marine Division promptly mobilized all its helicopters to fly doctors to the scene and bring casualties out to medical companies or—in the case of the more seriously injured—to a hospital ship in Inchon Harbor.

Helicopters also were used to rush emergency supplies of whole blood to the medical companies for use in transfusions.

Three of its victims were dead on arrival at medical companies. A fourth died late Thursday, and the others died during the night.

Names of the men killed or injured in the explosion were withheld until their families have been notified.

Ex-Legislator Indicted for Tax Evasion

SPRINGFIELD (AP)—Former State Rep. William F. Gibbs, Quincy, has been charged with income tax evasion, it was reported today.

U. S. Atty. John B. Stoddard Jr. disclosed a complaint was sworn out by Internal Revenue Agent Frank E. Strang charging Gibbs with evading taxes on his income for 1947-48.

The complaint charges Gibbs "did unlawfully and wilfully attempt to evade and defeat" taxes by reporting income totaling $3,216.10 for the two years when it actually was $15,815.70.

Strang said Gibbs reported $1,428.69 net income for 1947 when he actually made $6,558.19. During 1948, when Gibbs was married, he reported $1,787.41 income but should have listed $7,260.51, Strang said.

Stoddard said the complaint had been turned over to the U. S. marshal's office for action.

Gibbs, a Democrat, was indicted in 1950 on state charges of forgery, larceny and operating a confidence game.

The indictments charged he cashed state highway payroll warrants made out to fictitious persons in the late 1940s.

Legality of the indictments was challenged to the Illinois Supreme Court, which upheld them and ordered Gibbs to stand trial. The trial has not yet opened in Sangamon County Circuit Court.

Lewis Hopes to Unify Labor But Rules Self Out as Head

By PETER EDSON
NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON (NEA)—John L. Lewis, just turned 74, has apparently at long last come to the conclusion that he himself cannot hope to head a unified American labor movement. Mr. Lewis is said to believe, however, that he can head up a balance-of-power coalition in the now widely decentralized and rivalry-torn union organizations.

A third force of this kind—between the eight-million member American Federation of Labor and the perhaps four-million member Congress of Industrial Organizations—is considered important in achieving organic unity in the U. S. labor movement. Mr. Lewis is using his influence wherever he can to bring it about.

These are now believed to be the real factors behind several moves in union labor circles which have led to some highly speculative rumors of new alliances in the past year.

They account for the United Mine Workers' loan to the independent International Longshoremen's Assn. now headed by Capt. William V. Bradley of New York. They account for last year's meetings between John L. Lewis and David J. McDonald, president of the C. I. O. Steelworkers' union. They account for the flirtation that has gone on between a number of weaker unions and the strong U. M. W.

They also explain in part the statement made by Dave Beck, president of the Teamsters' union, at the recent Miami Beach meeting of the A. F. of L. executive committee. Mr. Beck urged that Mr. Lewis and the U. M. W. be invited to come back into the A. F. of L. fold.

A JOINT STATEMENT
This statement of Mr. Beck's was obviously made with the foreknowledge and approval of Mr. Lewis. These two men have had a number of meetings in Washington. Mr. Beck would obviously not have stuck his neck out in this manner

New Sensitive Gyroscope For Air Force

MINNEAPOLIS (AP)—The United States now has a gyroscope so sensitive it could measure the width of a city block on the moon or detect motion 3,000 times slower than the hour hand of a watch.

Minneapolis-Honeywell Regulator Co. today announced development and mass production of the new type of gyroscope, which it said is the most sensitive airborne instrument ever built.

The instrument was developed for the Air Force for use in flight bombing and fire control systems. It already has other uses ranging from ocean-going vessels to 60-ton tanks.

The new "floated" gyroscopes are hundreds of times more accurate and sensitive than conventional gyros. Honeywell officials said. Despite their accuracy, the cylinder-shaped instruments weigh less than three pounds.

Sensitive But Rugged
Honeywell said the instrument is so sensitive that a drop of dust weighing 1-1,000 of a gram would have the same effect on it as a handful of gravel in the transmission of an automobile. However, it is so rugged that engineers have used a demonstration model to drive nails through a board without affecting the instrument's accuracy.

Minneapolis-Honeywell said the instrument could measure the speed of motion and are of a man walking in a circle whether the journey took him one second or five years.

If a man could stand in Los Angeles and read a standard-size newspaper in New York, Honeywell engineers said, the gyro could measure the angle of change made by left eye between the right and left hand columns.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY
Give and it shall be given unto you.—Luke 6:38.

Even business men have learned that the old idea "let the buyer beware" is foolish from every standpoint. There is also an inner satisfaction from being generous even when we do not profit materially.

Rains may fall in midsummer at the North Pole.

District B. & P. W. Officers Elected At Meeting Held at Carmi

Twelve members of the Harrisburg Business & Professional Women's club attended the meeting of the 13th district in Carmi Thursday evening. The Carmi club was hostess to the spring district meeting and the dinner meeting was held in the dining room of the Carmi country club.

Miss Ruby Thomas, president of the Harrisburg club, gave the response to the welcome by the Carmi club, Hazel Munsey. Mrs. Dorothy Crowder of Flora, district president, presided during the short business session at which time a new district president and vice president were elected. Esther Kalenbach of Carmi was elected president and Ruby Webb of McLeansboro, vice president. They were also named to represent the 13th district on the nominating committee at the state convention in Springfield in May.

In addition to the affair being the district session, the Carmi club observed its 20th birthday with a cake being presented to their president. The Carmi club also presented an amusing skit, "What They Didn't Know" which was an example of how a club business meeting should not be conducted.

The program was concluded by a talk by Florence Compton, state membership chairman, who told how the Business & Professional Women's club was organized in 1919 following the First World War in St. Louis, Mo., and of its accomplishments since that time. The national convention is to be held in St. Louis this year.

Fake Professor Found Teaching Advanced Physics

DURHAM, N. H. (AP) — A fake professor has been teaching advanced physics at the University of New Hampshire for more than a year, college officials disclosed today.

They identified the self-styled professor as Marvin Hewitt, 31, Philadelphia, who had only a high school education. When his pose was uncovered, they said, he left town.

Hewitt was described as a "natural born genius" who educated himself so well that he was able to teach two advanced technical courses in relativity and thermodynamics without detection.

Edward D. Eddy Jr., assistant to President Robert F. Chandler, said Hewitt told officials poverty had deprived him of the schooling he thought would make him an educator.

Eddy said Hewitt told him he always had a "compulsion" to teach. He said Hewitt's teaching was "above criticism."

"Students who were instructed by him will be given full credit for their work and grades," Eddy said. "Hewitt flunked only one student."

New Hampshire officials said Hewitt taught at four other colleges during a seven-year span. Two of those universities dismissed him after discovering his true identity. The other two never were aware of it.

None of the universities was identified.

Stevenson Hits Attacks on Higher Education

CHICAGO (AP) — Adlai E. Stevenson said today that certain figures on the American scene are "brewing a miasma of anti-intellectualism" and attempting to bully universities into serving the cause of the far right.

Stevenson, in a speech for the ninth annual conference on higher education, said "... higher education itself has rarely been under more sustained and ugly attack."

Education, the defeated presidential candidate said, is caught in a pincers movement between "fanatics of totalitarianism" and "men in our midst, affecting to oppose Communist totalitarianism."

The latter, Stevenson said, "are themselves emulating Communist methods in their assaults on higher education."

through pressure and intimidation and irresponsible inquiry, they are trying to convert our own colleges and universities into new instruments of indoctrination."

The educational conference, which will continue through Saturday, is sponsored by the National Education Assn. and has attracted about 850 college educators.

Stevenson urged scholars to resist attacks on education.

Chennault to Supply 24 U. S. Pilots for Planes in Indochina

HONG KONG (AP) — Gen. Claire Chennault's Civil Air Transport Airline announced today it had signed a contract with the French government to supply 24 American pilots to fly C-119 "Flying Box-cars" in Indochina.

The American civilian pilots, to be based at Haiphong, will fly the big cargo planes in air drops of supplies. The French will supply crew members other than pilots, and the planes will be maintained by U. S. Air Force technicians already in Haiphong.

Longshoremen Shut Down New York Port

NEW YORK (AP)—Angry longshoremen shut down virtually the entire port of New York today in a wildcat strike in defiance of a federal court order.

The strike, an apparently unanimous walk-out of International Longshoremen's Assn. (I.L.A.) members without picket lines, appeared to be building up to the showdown between the I.L.A. and the rival AFL-ILA in their 6-month-old fight for domination of the New York waterfront.

AFL spokesmen, however, indicated they had no desire to close for a bloody fight with "the mob." "Their battle is with the law," Ace Keeney, executive director of the AFL-ILA, said. "It's a complete violation of the law, and we expect the legal agencies to take care of it."

Luxury Liner Piers Hit
In the mammoth port, only a handful of piers were being worked by AFL longshoremen. Keeney said AFL dock workers could man many of those presently closed down but "they didn't go to work, because they still have some fear." Closed down tight were the luxury liner piers from 42nd to 57th streets on the North river, where longshoremen are still dominated by the I.L.A.'s "pistol local" 824 and passengers carried their own bags onto the Cunard liner Queen Elizabeth this morning.

Among her passengers were Sir Gladwyn Jebb, former British ambassador to the United Nations, sailing for his new post in Paris, Mrs. Jebb and their daughter.

The blow-up came as a result of a restraining order issued against the I.L.A. Thursday. The order was issued because of a dispute between the I.L.A., which was kicked out of the AFL and the AFL teamsters union. The I.L.A. was boycotting cargoes handled by the teamsters union and the teamsters were picketing the I.L.A. in retaliation.

Former POW Is Arrested

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP)—Cpl. Claude Batchelor, 25, a former war prisoner who stayed with the Reds and then changed his mind and returned to freedom, was ar-rested today at an Army hospital and charged with helping the Reds while he was in prison camp.

The government charged the Kermit, Tex., soldier's collabora-tion with the enemy "caused other American prisoners of war punish-ment and hardship."

Twenty-three American prison-ers at first decided to stay with the Reds in Korea. Only Cpl. Ed-ward Dickenson of Crackers Neck, Va. and Batchelor later changed their minds and decided to return home.

Dickenson had already been charged because of his activities while in prison.

CAB Examiner Recommends Suspension Of Godfrey Pilot License

WASHINGTON (AP)—A Civil Aero-nautics Board examiner recom-mended today that "TV star Arthur Godfrey's pilot license be sus-pended for six months starting March 16.

Godfrey also will be required to take an examination by a Civil Aeronautics Administration agent. The examiner's finding will be-come final unless appealed by March 15.

The examiner's recommendation stemmed from an incident of last Jan. 7 when Godfrey flew close to the control tower as he took off in his twin-engine DC3 from the Teterboro, N. J., airport.

Godfrey can appeal the exami-ner's ruling to the full board and then, if the board's decision goes against him, to the courts.

Wilson Marks Army for Administrative Shake-Up

Secretary is Fed Up with Conditions Leading to Eisenhower-McCarthy Fireworks

By LYLE C. WILSON
United Press Staff Correspondent
WASHINGTON (U.P.)—The Army Department was reported today to be marked for a jarring administrative shake-up to correct conditions which touched off fireworks between President Eisenhower and Sen. Joseph R. McCarthy.

Defense Secretary Charles E. Wilson is represented as being fed up with the Army's peacetime setup for handling personnel. He calls 14 months too long to discover and get rid of an undesirable officer or enlisted man.

The United Press was informed that Wilson intended to do something about it. Whether reorganization would affect high ranking individuals or merely the administrative procedure governing their operations was not yet evident. There was no indication that Army Secretary Robert T. Stevens was under Wilson's fire.

Dissatisfied at Developments
The defense secretary dropped a hint of the projected shake-up at his news conference Thursday when he said there would be an effort to improve Army organization "before long."

"We have a wonderful group of men in the Army," he said, "...but they are much better organized to fight in the field than they are to operate in peacetime."

Wilson was dissatisfied by the sequence of the Peress case developments. It was McCarthy's effort to identify individuals responsible for dealing with Maj. Irving Peress that led the rough questioning of Brig. Gen. Ralph W. Zwicker and this week's rebuke to McCarthy by Mr. Eisenhower.

A high defense official told United Press that Wilson's investigation of the Peress case would take several weeks. Thereafter, something is likely to happen in the Pentagon. It took the Army four months to discover Peress had refused to sign a routine loyalty document and 10 months thereafter to decide what to do about it. He got an honorable discharge.

McCarthy Through with Statements
The secretary said at his news conference Thursday that McCarthy's charge of Army coddling of Communists was "damned tommyrot." He also vigorously indicated an intention to protect his officers from anything like abuse by congressional investigators.

Wilson also said he hated Communism and would bar Communists from the armed services if he had his way. He thought Zwicker had been treated discourteously and, by implication, compared McCarthy to a patron who is unpleasant to servants.

But he also had a good word for McCarthy, in response to questions.

"I think," he said, "the McCarthy committee is bringing to the attention of the country the fact that we have this Communist business and have to deal with it."

Wilson said the previous Democratic administrations had permitted "too much footy playing" with Communists, probably because Russia was or had been an ally. He recalled that as head of General Motors during the war he had forced some Communists out of a union and "the government" had desired them reinstated.

Advised of Wilson's "tommyrot" remark, McCarthy at first declined to reply.

"I'm all through with statements," he said.

Benson Announces 'Re-Seal' Programs On Surplus Grains

WASHINGTON (U.P.)—Secretary of Agriculture Ezra T. Benson announced "re-seal" programs on surplus grains from the overflow 1953 crop.

He also announced special farm bin building loans to help meet what may be the "most serious storage problems we have ever faced."

He called a national grain storage conference to meet at Omaha March 18 to "review the whole storage situation and make plans."

"We are determined to do everything possible... to see that the big supplies can be handled," Benson said. "We are confident with full cooperation, the storage problem can be met satisfactorily."

The "re-seal" programs covered 1953 crop corn, wheat, oats, barley, grain sorghums, rye, and flax seed, which are under price support loan or purchase agreements.

Under the programs, farmers will hold the crops on the farm for another year instead of turning them over to the government when loans mature this summer.

Old Ben Closes Mine Near Buckner

BUCKNER, Ill. (U.P.)—About 600 miners have been laid off "temporarily" at the Old Ben Coal Corp. mine No. 14 near here until the coal market improves.

A notice was posted Thursday at the mine which has been idle this month. Old Ben No. 11 at Coello has been closed more than a year and Old Ben No. 14 is the fourth southern Illinois mine to close this month. A fifth mine will close April 1.

Old Ben Coal Corp. still operates its No. 22 at Valer and No. 9 at West Frankfort.

Carter Favored To Keep Title In Bout Tonight

NEW YORK (U.P.)—After nine years of skull practice, Paddy DeMarco finally gets his shot at the world lightweight crown tonight in a TV-radio fight with champion Jimmy Carter at Madison Square Garden.

Probably no aspirant ever used his head more in forging toward a title match than did the "Brooklyn Billy Goat," roughest man in the ring.

At 26, the pride of the Brooklyn Navy Yard bawliwick has a plunging attack that features three weapons—two flying fists and a crashing noggin. As auxiliaries there are his joiting elbows and jarring shoulders.

Because of the cranial menace, 30-year-old Carter will be out to knock DeMarco's head off in a hurry tonight, lest his own face resemble steak under a meat hammer should the bout last its scheduled 15 rounds.

And the odds-makers believe Carter has the dynamite to do it. They made the champion a 4-1 favorite to beat Paddy and a 7-5 choice to knock him out.

Prospects of a rough and perhaps riotous evening should lure about 7,000 fans and $25,000 to the Garden. The TV-radio sponsor pays $30,000. Carter gets $12,000 of the thirty grand and 40 per cent of the net gate. DeMarco receives $6,000 and 20 per cent.

Carter, who covets a shot at Kid Gavilan's welterweight title, will be making the seventh defense during his two regimes as 135-pound champion. And he will be seeking his fourth straight title kayo.

Three Downstate Scoring Champs Top Caiazza; Archie Dees Averages 31.8 Points

SPRINGFIELD — La Grange heads the parade of 1933-34 Illinois prep basketball conference champions but at least three conference scoring leaders topped Lion ace Ted Caiazza. La Grange's Caiazza averaged 28.1 points in 14 West Suburban tilts, bettering all scorers in Chicago area leagues. Downstate scoring champs who topped Caiazza included Kenney's Dean Padgett, with 32.2 points per conference game; Mount Carmel's towering Archie Dees, 31.8; and Louisville's Dave Tillema, 30.3. Padgett, who scored an amazing 838 points in leading Kenney to a 25-2 regular season record and to a share of the Logan De Witt Conference title with Hartsville-Emden, averaged 31 for all games. 4-Way Tie in Big 12. Mount Carmel, under Dees, was unbeatable in winning the North Egypt Conference crown. Tillema likewise sparked Louisville to the championship in the Midland Trail loop. Bill Laude of the Big Eight Conference, Rockford East, set a new league scoring record with 236 points. East, unbeaten in 10 games, had a comfortable margin over Joliet and Rockford West, tied for second with 73 loop records. But the Big 12 Conference race proved to be a dogfight, ending in a four-way tie between Peoria Central, Danville, Lincoln and Decatur. All four clubs had 94 marks. In the tough South Seven Conference, Mount Vernon grabbed top honors with a 10-2 skein. Herin was second with 9-3 and had the scoring champ in Bill Lawrence, junior forward, with a 20.6 mark. Cumberland gained its second consecutive Eastern Illinois Conference crown by winning 14 games against two losses in the hard-fought race. Pinckneyville again was almost unchallenged in the South Egypt Conference, going unbeaten. Carbondale was next strongest. In the sprawling Northwest Conference, East Moline and Moline tied. Hoosiers Four-Point Favorites Over Illinois

CHICAGO — Indiana's defending Big Ten and national basketball champions are a 4-point favorite to drop Illinois Saturday and retain both the conference crown and a chance to hang on to the national title. The Hoosiers hold a one game lead over Illinois, in third place, going into action, but should Illinois win then there would be a three-team tie between the Hoosiers, Illini and Iowa, which finished its schedule Monday with 11 wins and 3 losses. Illinois has won 10 and lost 3 while Indiana has won 11 and lost 2. Illinois' chances for an upset appear good. Coach Harry Combes said that his team "wasn't going to Indiana just for the ride," but he classed the Hoosiers as a good ball club which would be hard to beat. Coach Branch McCracken of Indiana, meanwhile, said that unless his team could beat the Illini, it probably wouldn't get a chance for the national tournament. The Big Ten champion automatically qualifies for the NCAA event and conference athletic directors convened in a special meeting at Champaign, Ill., to find a way of selecting the conference representative should an Illini win Saturday result in a three-way tie for the title. Schlundt vs. Kerr. The Illini-Indiana scrap will pit two expert centers against each other. Don Schlundt of the Hoosiers, the defending Big Ten scoring champion and now leading in the race for the individual title again, and John Kerr of Illinois, runner-up to Schlundt in scoring so far this season. It was likely Schlundt would retain his individual crown as Kerr would have to outscore him by 35 points in their man-for-man contest to gain the title. But observers believed Indiana could give Schlundt more help than Kerr could expect. The rest of the Hoosier starters, Charlie Kraak, Dick Farley, Bob Leonard and Burke Scott, played throughout last season and have been consistent this year. Illinois probably will start Jim Dutcher, Bruce Brothers, Paul Judson and Jim Wright along with Kerr. Two other Big Ten games also are on the Saturday program, but have only passing interest as none pertain to the title. The matches are Michigan at Michigan State and Wisconsin at Minnesota. Big Bill Thompson, then mayor of Chicago, once threatened to punch the King of England in the nose.

Mt. Vernon Rams and McLeansboro Foxes Play In Final Game Tonight

The Harrisburg Bull Dogs and the Shawneetown Indians were dropped last night from the Mt. Vernon regional tournament, leaving Mt. Vernon and McLeansboro to fight it out tonight for the championship and a berth in the Harrisburg sectional meet next week. The Rams, tourney favorites, beat Harrisburg, 78-48, and McLeansboro defeated Shawneetown, 71-58, in the semi-finals to advance to the championship game, which will be at eight o'clock. The Rams simply were too much for Harrisburg last night. They showed plenty of defense, covering the Harrisburg shooters well and bottling Dave Anglin, who made 30 points against Fairfield the first night. Damage Done Early. But it was Albert Avant, lithe guard of the Rams, who broke the Bull Dog back early. With the Bull Dogs closing in on the three big boys on the Mt. Vernon team, Whitlock, Deichman and Thompson, Avant started connecting with his push shot from 15 to 20 feet out and his marksmanship was uncanny. And when the locals went out to guard him, the big boys went to work. The Bull Dogs did a pretty good job of things the last half after being outplayed the first two quarters. In fact, they were outscored only two points the final half but the damage was done before intermission. Mt. Vernon led, 20-10 at the quarter and, outscoring the locals 23-5 the second period, went to the dressing rooms at halftime leading 43-15. But in the third quarter the two teams played on even terms, both sides scoring 15 points, and in the last stanza Mt. Vernon outscored the locals by only two points, 20-18. Foxes Grab Early Lead. The two seniors on the local squad, Ronnie Riegel and Richard Gidcomb, bowed out of HTHS cage competition with fine games. Riegel showed the fans some expert ball handling and fight throughout the game and was high scorer for the locals with 17 points. Gidcomb also played well and made 15 points. It was the young boys on the team who showed their need of more experience. Avant was high scorer of the game, with 21 points. The hot-shooting Foxes of McLeansboro grabbed an early lead against Shawneetown and kept it throughout the contest. They led 19-12 at the quarter, 29-21 at halftime, 50-37 at the end of the third quarter and 71-58 at the end of the game. McLeansboro shot a red-hot 565 to win while Shawnee was connecting for a good 463. The Foxes' Millenbine, their ace scorer all year, connected for 24 points but he was outscored in this semi-final contest by Shawneetown's Nolen, who made 25. Mt. Vernon, because of its height and defense, is a favorite to beat McLeansboro tonight and come to the Harrisburg sectional.

Selvy is Named Player of Year. NEW YORK — Flashy Frank Selvy of Furman, who made basketball's all-time record book the personal diary of his march to greatness, was named today by the United Press as the 1954 college basketball "player of the year." The 6-foot, 3-inch senior from Corbin, Ky., was awarded the signal honor by the votes of 186 of the 340 sports writers and radio broadcasters who participate in the nationwide poll. The halloing, like Selvy's drive to his second straight national scoring championship, wasn't even close. Six-foot, 7-inch Tom Gola of La Salle was a distant second with 35 votes, gaining the runnerup spot by a margin of just two votes over C-9 Clarence (Bevo) Francis, the small college scoring terror from Rio Grande. Careless discarding of matches and lighted cigarets starts more fires than any other cause.

LaGrange and Morton to Clash Tonight; Grayville Plays Mt. Carmel in Final

SPRINGFIELD — La Grange and Morton collide headon tonight in an Illinois prep basketball contest highlighting the finish of 60 regional tournaments. Some 120 varsity players from a downstate field that originally numbered 695 will pair off tonight for regional honors. Winners will advance to the 15 sectional tourneys next week. La Grange, rated a good bet to repeat as state champion, faces the most serious threat yet to its ambitions when it comes up against Cicero Morton in the Riverside regional. Morton has won 19 out of 21 games, including 18 in a row. Its latest triumph came over Argo in the Riverside semi-finals Thursday night, by an emphatic 95-53 margin. Paced by big Ted Caiazza, La Grange has captured 21 out of 22 contests and was ranked No. 1 team in downstate Illinois throughout the 1953-54 season. Other Victories. Besides Morton, teams which turned in semifinal victories Thursday night included Centralia, Mount Vernon, Barrington, Rockford West, Moline, Rock Island, Grayville, Rich Township, Princeton and Palestine. At Benton West Frankfort beat Johnston City, 71-51, and will play the host Rangers tonight for the regional championship. Marion defeated Carbondale, 65-55, in a semi-final tilt at Murphysboro, and tonight will meet Elkhart in the final. The 95 teams which were sidelined by defeats included O'Fallon, Chrisman, Washington, Decatur St. Teresa, Hillsboro, Elgin and Danville Schlarmann. The last four named all were among the "Sweet Sixteen" teams which played for the 1953 state title. Mount Vernon, rated No. 3 by the U. P. coaches board, faces McLeansboro's Little Foxes tonight

Illinois, Michigan In Two Team Scrap For Indoor Title

CHAMPAIGN, Ill. — Illinois and Michigan will battle the field again Saturday in a two team scrap for the championship in the 44th annual Big Ten indoor track meet. The Illini and Wolverines, who have run one-two in the meet for the past three seasons, were stand-out favorites. Only Michigan State and Indiana rated as challengers, and they were not classed as threats. Most of the meet records appear out of danger despite the quality of the field. Only two old marks have been surpassed in indoor competition this winter, in the 880 and the high jump. Ron Mitchell, Illinois' star high jumper who holds the record of 6' 7 1/2", has gone an inch higher this season while both Pete Gray of Michigan and Gene Maynard of Illinois have improved on the half mile mark of 1:52.7 set by Stacey Siders of Illinois a year ago. Records were sure to be established in three new events added to the indoor program for the first time in year, the 300, 600, and 1,000 yard runs. Illinois will rely on quality thinly spread to win as Coach Leo Johnson named only 16 athletes for the competition. Michigan listed 34 competitors. Sprague Reveals $195,000 Profit on $2,000 Investment. NEW YORK — Former Republican National Committeeman J. Russell Sprague has disclosed that he made a $195,000 profit on a $2,000 investment in Nassau County harness racing. Sprague revealed his raceway stock transactions Thursday as the star witness before a commission investigating undercover financial operations of the rich New York harness racing industry. Sprague, who resigned from the GOP National Committee last fall to protect his party from criticism due to his raceway holdings, told the commission how he had reaped two small fortunes out of harness racing since World War II.

Hauling up burly shoulders Crafkin spat and said as one scattering his pearls before swine, "If Luke Usher had run into what this guy did that first night he'd have been gone before sun-up. Luke—the real Luke—never had the kind of nerve that goes with the things this bird has been pulling. Moreover Krantz came out from the Red Horse, just before you rode up, with a sample of this jasper's signature; he spells it the same but it ain't Luke's writing. Luke Usher's hair wasn't sandy. It was the color of the streak down his back."

"Churk! You up there, Churk?"
"Ryerson," Crafkin muttered; and the hidden man saw his short and broad shape wheel its horse toward the rim to call, "Yes, sir.
You had better come up."

Marratt didn't wait to hear anything further. He knew if he were ever to get away from here alive, now was the time to make his try while the sounds of Ryerson's approach could help to cover his departure.

He slipped off his spurs and left them, moving cautiously down the ink-black slope, the progress of Ryerson's climbing horse serving to keep him headed in the right direction. Once he tripped and came within an ace of stumbling but met and passed the Wineglass owner without discovery. It made his neck hair bristle to see the vague outline of Cragg's partner within six feet of him and, despite his ultimatums, not be able to raise a hand. While the echoes were still slamming sound through the hollow he went forward in a cat-footing crouch until he saw the head and shoulders of the Wineglass vaquero against the distant shine of stars.

Then, before Marratt could gain a position from which a leap would hold out any chance of success, the man got out of the saddle.

Marratt could not see him now but he could see the saddled back of the man's horse coming toward him. The animal sensed his presence and would not come any nearer. The man growled in Spanish and abruptly went still as though listening and staring. Marratt kept still, too, hardly daring to breathe, until he heard the man start to back off with his horse; then he lunged for him.

Marratt slugged the man with a rock-weighted fist and grabbed the reins from his hand as the fellow went down. The horse tried to jerk free but Marratt dug in his heels. When the horse quit fighting Marratt swiftly stooped and got the man's gun and shell belt, buckled the latter around him and, catching up the fellow's chin-strapped sombrero, thrust a foot in the stirrup and swung aboard.

The first gray pallor of false dawn was in the air when Marr-att's appropriated Wineglass gelding brought him, via Jake's south 40, into sight of the dilapidated Usher headquarters. Kid Boots, of the saturnine eyes and fast pistol, was being awfully quiet. Playing cagey, Marratt imagined until he recalled the inclination of Indian curs toward barking.

He remembered then with an irascible dissatisfaction, several other things—the way Boots had targeted that scrap iron hump and the quietness with which he'd put his things in Jake's bedroom. A really smart man would have been a little more careful. He'd not have lied about the dog which Boots had said looked to him like anyone's pooch that would call it.
Sure enough, the dog had come straightaway to Marratt's whistle, but he hadn't that first time. The dog hadn't come at the tank when the girl had asked, "What dog?"
And there were Crafkin's remarks to match it.

He turned the Wineglass brone toward the nearest of the pole enclosures and swung down when he reached it for a look through the bars. The hired man's horse was there but the uncut gray he'd got from Isham was gone.

He dropped the reins and turned around and rummaged the yard with a probing stare.

But again the cold jitters inside him howled protest and his feet slowed and stopped in the sound-muffling grass 30 feet from the edge of its weather-warped planks.

"Come on. Don't stop there."
The voice, smoothly ominous, came out of the shadows where he'd left Boots sitting. Only it wasn't Boots' voice.

Marratt, in extreme disgust, scanned his chances and growled resignedly. "All right." There was no percentage in trying to beat the drop of an unseen firearm and the man's hands held one or he'd have played this different.
"Keep your shirt on," Marratt grumbled, and stepped bitterly forward until the voice bade, "Far enough. Now turn around and shuck that gun belt."

This wasn't Crafkin. It wasn't Gainer.

He did as he'd been told and,
when the gun-weighted belt hit the ground, his captor ordered, "Strike a match, mount the steps and go inside and get a lamp lit."

Because he hadn't much choice, Marratt, rasping a match across the hip of his Levis, climbed onto the porch and moved into the house. He found the lamp.

It wasn't the gun which caught Marratt's stare but the bright flash of metal on the pocket of his shirt.

"A real pleasure, Mr. Usher," declared Bella Loma's marshal, a mocking grin pulling back the leathery lips from mossy teeth.
"Jail for you, but talk ain't going to help you."

the April 13 primary election this year than it had for the November, 1952, general election. Secretary of State Charles F. Carpenter said today.

Total precincts in the state for this year's election will be 9,807, of which 5,407 are in Cook county.
The estimated number of voters in the state is 5,287,979, Secretary
Carpenter said.

Trap Vultures

Livestock producers who have been losing lambs, calves, and pigs to vultures can eliminate the birds by trapping and killing them. Plans for building a buzzard trap can be obtained through the local county agent.
